Habitat for Humanity’s Women Build program empowers women from all walks of life to address in a concrete way, the need for more affordable housing in our communities. Through Women Build, volunteers & sponsors give our neighbors strength, stability and self-reliance through affordable home ownership opportunities.

In 2011, Habitat for Humanity of Frederick County hosted its first Women Build project on Madison Street. Since then, women volunteers have been active on Habitat job sites during National Women Build Week each spring. In 2017, Habitat constructed another Women Build home on Park Avenue in Brunswick, where the majority of fundraising and volunteerism was done by women. Throughout, Women Build has empowered women to give back while learning, and enhancing, construction skills.

Frederick Women Build Week

May 3-9, 2020

During Frederick Women Build Week 2020, women from across Frederick County will come together to advance Frederick’s latest Neighborhood Revitalization project in the Discovery community of Walkersville. Habitat’s Neighborhood Revitalization program focuses on uplifting neighborhoods for the benefit of all who live there. Completed through individual home repairs for citizens in need, as well as projects that benefit the community at large, the program aims to give all residents a sense of pride and dignity where they live.
